I have read the important Code of Conduct information and give my consent as a Player/Parent/Guardian to follow this code, by ticking the box below.

Introduction:

An environment of sport brings about for young people a natural sense of fun, spontaneity, curiosity and development of their unique potential. Sport for young people is not about winning, but learning and development of skills: physical, social, emotional and psychological. A child/young persons-centred approach to training and participation in sport enhances a young person's confidence and self-esteem. This approach in turn brings out the best in the young person and maximises their potential which in turn benefits the team as a whole, the community at large and fosters the maturity of a healthy adult into the future.

Clooney-Quin GAA Policy Statement:

Clooney-Quin GAA is fully committed to providing a safe, positive and nurturing environment where children and young people can develop and enhance their physical and social skills. The club draws on the guidelines as set out in the Child Welfare and Protection document which can be found on gaa.ie under Clubzone.

Clooney-Quin GAA Philosophy:

Clooney Quin GAA underage Club accepts the philosophy of using a child centred approach that recognises that the welfare of the child is paramount while ensuring that each child is provided with developmental opportunities that are appropriate to their age and abilities.

The Club ensures that those chosen to work on their behalf with young players have been selected and vetted in accordance with GAA underage welfare and child protection guidelines. The Club promotes an emphasis on fair play, respect, equality and safety.

The Club strives for quality participation of its members by promoting respect which is responsible, constructive, encouraging, supportive, positive, enabling, considerate and tolerant.
